DEPARTMENT COURSES

COURSE TITLE	DESCRIPTION	LECTURER
Composition II	Prerequisite course requirements	leva Krūmiņa
	Basic knowledge in composition - the ability to organize the chosen plane, work with color, apply various technical techniques and materials. Ability to analytically evaluate and conceptually solve the given topic.
	Aim of the course and description
	Explore historical textile techniques, fiber materials and the possibilities of non-traditional use of culturally related meanings and images in contemporary textile and fiber art.  The research object of the semester is textiles as:  1) METHOD- To use the techniques typical of crafts as a source of inspiration for a new form.  2) MATERIAL- Using (or ignoring) the properties and qualities of the fiber material, re-create it in new structure samples, expanding the understanding of matter.  3) METAPHOR - Exploring the relationship and meanings of textiles and text: searching, accentuating and revealing stories, their layers, paradoxes and subtexts through fibers and techniques.  Within the course, it is also possible to work on a specific international or local competition exhibition project, if its topic corresponds to the research and practical tasks of the master's student.
Practical Work	Prerequisite course requirements	leva Krūmiņa with Materials	Knowledge gained in previous years, the ability to freely work with various textile materials, as well as mastering technical techniques. The ability to assess the compliance of the chosen idea with the technique, the ability to improvise by connecting non-traditional materials, high professional criteria in working with the material.	,
	Aim of the course and description
	To learn and develop a set of technical techniques with the help of which to convincingly and adequately reproduce your creative idea in textile fiber material.  The task is to work in connection with the chosen theme in the composition - traditional techniques are adapted to nontraditional materials, supplemented and modified, thus gaining new experience. The student's task is to work with the chosen technique, to experiment in order to arrive at his own original technique and the learning process results in a professionally executed work of fiber art. Students have the opportunity to submit their works to internationally important textile art competition exhibitions.
Conceptual	Prerequisite course requirements	Barbara Ābele
Composition II	The basics of the history of composition and textile art have been mastered, there is prior knowledge and understanding of contemporary art developments, philosophy and cultural history.

	Aim of the course and description
	To develop the ability to observe, see the essentiality and conciseness of things, openness of perception and thinking. To develop the ability to think quickly and concentratedly, to create creative solutions in limited conditions and within a specific topic, applying diverse and creative technical solutions. The course content is designed to develop conceptual thinking and train the skill of effective presentation.  During the course, tasks are carried out that deepen both theoretical knowledge and create the ability to create ideas within a specific topic and limitation.
	Learning Outcomes: (knowledge, skills, competence)
